TO-DAY'S GAMES. Mansfield at Wheeling.
*Dayton at Toledo.
Youngstown at New Castle.
Grand Rapids at Fort Wayne.

The thirty-six hundred people who witnessed the two games yesterday, morning and afternoon, between the Wheeling and Mansfield clubs of the Inter-state lengue, were simply intoxi-cated with delight over the result, the Stogles winning both contests and at the same time showing the fans just how good they are in a pinch. That batting rally in the eighth inning of the batting rally in the eighth inning of the morning game was worth going miles to winess, and again in the afternoon, when the score was three to two in favor of Wheeling in the ninth, the Wheelings jumped in and scored three more runs, just to show the Mansfield aggregation that they were easier than the score had indicated. A few games like those of the Fourth and the old town will be base ball mad.

The Morning Game.

The morning game went to the Sto-gies after every one of the 1,500 spectators had given up all hope. When the eighth inning opened up, the score stood 6 to 2, in favor of the Haymakers, and although the team had been putting up a nice fielding game, the when they counted for runs and thus secured a lead which it could hardly be hoped the home team would overcome in the last two innings. But just here the S ogies fooled the crowd by giving an exhibition of team hitting that brought in six runs, five of them earned. The crowd simply went wild in its enthusiasm as the hits followed each other in rapid succession and the runs came over the plate in a stream, the Haymakers the while playing fast ball, but unable to stem the tide which had set in against them.

The first man up was Dobbs, who lined out a beauty for one base. Then "Denny" Lyons came up te the plate and followed suit by placing-a-safe one in right garden. Before Durrett had fielded the ball Dobbs was perched safely on third and the crowdwas yelling itself hoarse. Myers added to the the S ogies fooled the crowd by giving fielded the ball Dobbs was, perched safely on third and the crowdywar yelling itself hoarse. Myers added to the excitement with a fine single which scored Dobbs and sent Lyons to second. Lytle was there or thereabouts with a safe hit that filled the bases. Twineham waited for a straight one from Hackett, who was doing his best to fool the Stogle hitters, but he could not negotiate the big catcher, who hit a beauty to center that scored both Lyons and Myers, Lytle reading third on the throw to the infield. With Niles at bat, Twineham worked up to second on the first ball pitched, and both Lytle and Twineham scored on "Fight" Niles corking two-bagger at this point the runs Niles sent in had placed the Stogles one run to the good. Niles reached third on a passed ball by Belt, and with nobody out the outlook was bright for more runs. At this point, Lowney took out Hackett and sent Irwin to the siab, who was more effective. However, the next man up. Strang, hit an outfield fly to Bescher, on which Niles scored the sixth and last run of the ining. The next two batsmen ware outs, and the greatest batting raily ever witnessed on the local grounds outs, and the greatest batting rally ever witnessed on the local grounds noing. The next two batsmen were outs, and the greatest batting rally ever witnessed on the local grounds was at an end.

In their half of the eighth inning, the visitors could do nothing with Wells, being retired in one-two-three order. In the ninth, each side got a hit, but no scores resulted. Wheeling's infield work, that of Taylor, Niles and Lyons, was especially brilliant.

The Wheelings scored the first run of the game in the first inning, when Taylor hit for a single, stole second, advanced to third on Dobbs' sacrifice, and scored on Lyons base hit. The next two men were outs.

The visitors jumped into the lead in the fourth by some hard and timely batting. The first man up was Law, who hit an ugly bounder to Niles, but the latter made a clever pick-up and a fast assist to Myers for the out. Beecher landed hard on one of Wells' outshoots for two bases, but Beit was the second out on a fly to Niles and the outlook was brighter, but just here the beautiful uncertainty of the mational game was shown. Durrett getting a base op balls, and Keenan hitting out for two bases, scoring Beecher and Durrett. To make matters worse. Proctor made a single, scoring Reenan with the third run of the inning.

Wheeling made it close in the fifth, Taylor scoring on his single, a steal of second and Dobbs single.

The visitors widened the breach in the sixth, when Durrett ht for his second fwo-base hit, went to third on Taylor's fallure to handle Keenan's infield bounder, and scored on Proctor's single. With a man on third and another on first, it was risky throwing to catch Proctor at second, but Twineham tied for the out and Lyons got the sphere in time to retire the runner and at the same time hold Keenan at third. The next man up, Hackett, retired the side by striking out.

The Haymakers got two more in the seventh. With one out, Quinn worked a base on balls, went to third on Law's bounder to short, which Taylor fielded to Myers Just half a second too late to retire the runner. Beecher came up at third, Strang to Taylor to Afternoon Game.

The afternoon game was witnessed by more than 2,000 people, who packed the bleachers and comfortably filled the big grand stand. The game was one of great excitement at all stages and the crowd was at all times enthu and the crowd was at a times entar-siastic, the fine work of the Stogies de-serving all the commendation the fans had in stock. The team played with but a single fielding misplay, that of Lyons on an easy chance. Parvin and Miller were the opposing pitchers, and the former carried off the honors of the afternoon with ease, pitching one the best games ever witnessed on the local grounds. As fine a bit of pitching as anyone would desire was given by Parvin in the fifth inning, when Miller led off with a two-bagger, and got around to third on Flourney's infield hit. With one out and the visit ing team's strongest hitters up, Ing team's strongest hitters up, the chance for the run was about 10 to 1, but Parvin was equal to the emergency and proceeded to strike out both Quinn and Law. The big pitcher was given an ovation as he came in from the field. His work throughout the game was in refreshing contrast with the game he pitched last Sarurday against New Castle.

The fielding of the Stogles was giltedged. Taylor, at short, made two great pick-ups and captured a short outfield fly that was a beautiful piece of fielding. Niles caught a foul fly from Flourney's bat in the dist inding that looked to be surely safe, and after he made the catch he had to leap over the shafts of a carriage to escape a danger-was callisten. But it was to a Mansfeld.

made the catch he had to leap over the shafts of a carriage to escape a dangerous collision. But it was to a Mansfeld player that the opportunity came to make the star fielding exploit of the game. It was in the seventh inning, when, with two out, the basss were filled with Stogies through a base on balls, a hit batsman and an error. The next man up, Strang, hit a beauty to deep left which everybody thought was certainly safe and good to clear the bases. Little Beecher made a great side running catch that rotired the side and cut off three runs at least. He was enthusiastically applauded for his fine

Mansfield went into the lead with th mansied went into the east with the first pair of runs of the game in the second inning. Belt led off with a safe hit, went to second on Durrett's sacrifice, and scored on Lowney's single Miller unexpectedly came along with a timely two-bagger and scored Lowney's

ney. Then Parvin steadled down and had Then Parvin steadled down and had the visitors at his mercy, they being unable to score another run. In the meantime the Stogies began a gallant up-hill fight and eventually went into the lead and won out.

The first run for the home team came in the third inning. Taylor worked a base on balls, went to second on the error that gave Dobba a life at first, was advanced to third on Lyons' in-the error that gave Dobbs a life at first, was advanced to third on Lyons' infield hit, on which Dobbs was retised at second, and scored on Myers' timely outfield fly to Beecher in left.

Twineham opened the fourth with a two-bagger, but the next three batsmen were outs.

The score was tied in the fifth, Taylor leading off with a two-base bit, going to third on Dobbs' sacrifice, and gooring on Lyons' safe hit over Lowney's head. Myers followed with another hit, but the next batsmen were outs.

neys head. Myers followed with another hit, but the next batsmen were outs.

The Stogies went into the lead in the sixth. With one out Strang hit for a scratch single, pilfered second, went to third on a passed ball and accred on Taylor's bunt hit, on which the latter, to, was safe.

In the seventh, an error, a base on balls and a hit batsman filled the bases for Wheeling, but Beecher made his phenomenal catch of Strang's hit and there were no runs.

Wheeling enthused the fans by widening the breach in the inith lining, scoring three runs and taking from the Mansfelders any hope they might have entertained of winning. Lyons started the fun with a single: Myers hit to Miller, who fumbled and the runner was safe. Lytle came along with a clean single that was indeed timely, and scored Lyons. Twincham singled,scoring Myers and advancing Lytle to third. "Jack" Law very kindly gave the crowd an example of the play or misplay known as "passed ball," and Lytle trotted in with the third and last run of the inning.

In their half of the nint, the visitors worked in a hit by Lowney, who stole second, but Parvin was pitching ball, and struck out Miller for the second time, and the best Flournoy could do was a fly to Niles that ended the agony. Score:

slow. There was much dispute as to the exact time made by the winner and the judges spent a good part of the afternoon in attempting to reach a decision. William Couden finished second and George J. White, third. Owing to the confusion over time no effort to announce the time winner was made for several hours after the race was finished. The driving rain and sogay roads drove many of the starters from the course and there was many spills and minor accidents.

The finish was very close, William Couden; a 3:10 man, came in three lengths behind the winner. C. S. Fowell, a one-minute man, took second in 40:50½; R. W. Merrill third in 41:32 2-5, and John Nelson fourth in 41:32 2-1, and John Nelson fourth in 41:32 2-1, and John Nelson fourth in 41:32 Davis, the time winner, finished in fourthplace. Blum, winner of the Decoration Day race, and Ferguson, who took time in the same event, failed to make any showing to-day. The start was made on Michigan avenue at 10:20 o'clock in a drizzling rain. While the pavement was under their tires the men scorched at a record-breaking clip, but miserable roads compelled them to take to the railroad in single file for twenty blocks.
